Crater itself.

The commissioners have already decided on the design of the monument which will cost about $4,590. It will be a granite monolith twenty feet high and fifteen feet across the base. The monolith will be surmounted with the figure of an American eagle, and on the front and back sides of the base will be carved olive branches, the symbol of peace, instead of the laurel, the symbol of victory. A tablot will be suitably inscribed.

The States of Maine and Pennsylvania have already placed monuments on the Petersburg battlefields.
